Plymouth is a positive and outgoing individual, standing at 6 feet with a medium build. He has fair skin that respects his brown eyes and strawberry light brown hair. A charming detail about Plymouth's appearance is the small chin dimple that adds a touch of uniqueness. Plymouth is not only physically distinctive but also stands out as a left-handed individual.

Plymouth is also a talented individual who excels in the field of aerospace engineering. Armed with excellent math skills, he navigates the intricacies of his profession with precision and expertise. Beyond work, this dynamic individual find joy in sailing, showcasing his adventurous spirit on the open waters. Adding another feather to their cap, he holds a license as a small craft pilot, further embodying his passion for exploration. Tennis is also his current hobby, providing a perfect blend of physical activity for him. When in need of a mental escape, Plymouth turns to detective novels, immersing himself in thrilling mysteries for a well-deserved break from reality.