

Staff Impression – Lasaro 14003

Lasaro has olive skin, dark brown hair and warm brown eyes. He is 5'9" and has a fit physique. He often rides his bike and likes to keep active with ju-jitsu and rock climbing. Not only is he active in exercising his body but his mind as well. He has earned his Ph.D. in neurobiology and is currently a researcher studying metabolic and neurodegenerative disorders. Along with these impressive endeavors, Lasaro is also an incredibly kind and down to earth person.

He aspires to become a professor in his field of study. He also shared his long-term goal of owning a vineyard and developing his own wine. Being the determined, intelligent, and goal driven individual he is, these aspirations will likely become reality in the future.
