Fosse is a lively, charming character with an easygoing energy that draws people in. Standing at 5'8" with an average build, he's unassuming yet effortlessly cool. His oval face is framed by light brown to blond hair, which he habitually pushes back with his hands, giving him a casual look. His sharp, straight nose complements his expressive, oval-shaped blue-green eyes, which are always alight with a sense of curiosity. Fosse's straight-lipped smile is often paired with a short, neatly shaded goatee, adding a touch of roguish charm to his playful personality.

Fosse is a fun-loving real estate professional working at a mortgage company, but his passions stretch far beyond the office. He's currently learning the art of winemaking, dreaming of one day moving to Italy with his wife to start their own vineyard. A lover of the classics, his playlists are filled with timeless tunes from Frank Sinatra and alike, which often set the soundtrack to his spontaneous dance sessions. Fosse has a surprising love for ballet, having minored in dance during college, and he still practices whenever he can. As an adrenaline junkie, he seizes every opportunity to go skydiving, living life with a daring, playful spirit.
