

Cleese N4023 Staff Impression

Cleese's playful and confident vibe is accentuated by his distinctive style. Standing at 5'10" with an average build, he sports black hair with striking blond streaks that give his natural wave an adventurous look. His deep, double-lidded, almond-shaped eyes are a very dark brown, almost black, and seem to gleam with playful energy. His facial features are sharp and striking, with prominent cheekbones and a strong jawline that gives him a bold, defined presence. Yet, his warm, inviting smile softens his look, making him approachable and easy to talk to. Adding to his flair, Cleese wears an earring in each ear—simple but stylish hoops that hint at his fun side. He's the guy who can light up any room with his charm, effortlessly blending a unique look with a personality that's always ready to make people intrigued.

Cleese is the perfect blend of thoughtfulness and playfulness, with a patient and kind personality that makes him easy to be around. Currently pursuing his PhD in experimental psychology, he has a natural curiosity for how the mind works, which complements his deep, empathetic nature. Despite his academic focus, Cleese knows how to keep life balanced. He's an avid cardio enthusiast and enjoys the thrill of running, biking, or rollerblading—anything that gets him moving and clears his head. Music is another passion of his, and he's a talented multi-instrumentalist, playing the cello, piano, and guitar with equal ease. When he's not busy with his studies or exercising, you can find him indulging in his favorite comfort food, Japanese curry, which he swears is the best way to unwind after a long day. With his wide range of interests and warm, approachable demeanor, Cleese is both thoughtful and fun, always ready to engage in deep conversations or share a laugh over a good meal.
