

Tilman 10907 Staff Impression

Tilman stands at 5'10" with a slim build that gives him a natural grace. He has black hair that is meticulously braided flowing neatly to his chin and his round, dark brown eyes and naturally curled eyelashes. His oval-shaped face is accentuated by a neatly trimmed goatee, which adds a touch of sharpness to his otherwise gentle features. The most distinctive aspect of his appearance is his bulbous nose—a feature passed down through generations in his family. While prominent, it fits Tilman's face perfectly, blending harmoniously with the rest of his features and lending him an air of individuality.

Tilman is a natural-born explorer with a boundless curiosity that drives every aspect of his life. He spends his days running and working at his moving company, hauling boxes and organizing items with a precise touch. He dreams of one day growing his business into a major corporation. His work ethic is tireless, fueled by a vision of independence and growth. Outside of work, Tilman is a mentor at heart. He takes pride in guiding others. His love for learning is insatiable, making him a bookworm who's never without a novel in his hand. Despite holding strong personal beliefs, Tilman thrives in conversations with others, often finding common ground and learning from their perspectives. He's a natural conversationalist, skilled at bridging gaps and building rapport. His inquisitive nature leads him to see every person as a story worth discovering. In his downtime, Tilman unwinds with a good poker game. The strategic play appeals to his sharp mind, while the camaraderie of the table feeds his social spirit. He values the balance of logic and intuition the game requires—a reflection of how he approaches life.
