

Woodrow 13110 Staff Impression

Woodrow stands at 6 feet tall with a compact, athletic build that gives him a natural, light-footed presence. His light brown hair is cut short but wild, with shaggy bangs that just brush over his forehead, giving him a nonchalant and free look. His eyes—dark blue with a touch of green—are round and lively, always seeming to be in the middle of some thought or adventure. His straight, snub nose adds to his appearance, while his full cheeks and lips give him a youthful, open expression. When he grins, his dimples make a playful appearance, making his smile feel like an invitation to join in whatever fun he's up to.

Woodrow is a computer science student by day, yoyo master by night, he's got a knack for juggling algorithms and spinning tricks with equal finesse. His pet snake, who's just as chill as he is, is his most trusted sidekick—always coiled up and ready for a good conversation about The Smiths, his favorite band to vibe to when he's not busy making his yoyo defy gravity. With dark blue eyes that sparkle with curiosity, Woodrow has a natural charm that draws people in, even if he's a bit reserved at first. He has a jovial and upbeat personality—despite his shy streak.
