Esteury is a lively and cheerful young man, standing at 5'9" with a soft, approachable build. His Mexican heritage shines through in his warm, rich features. His dark brown, wavy hair, often pushed back behind his ears, falls just to his chin, framing his face with a casual, carefree vibe. One of his most charming traits is his scrunched button nose, adding to his playful and youthful demeanor. His almond-shaped brown eyes are full of warmth and energy, framed by double eyelids that give his gaze a depth of expression. Esteury's joyful smile, often showing off his perfect teeth, reflects his vibrant personality.

Esteury is an audio engineer at a video game company, where he brings worlds to life with sound, but he dreams of leveling up to work on films someday. A surprisingly skilled golfer, he's always up for a round on the weekends, and when he's not fine-tuning his swing, you'll find him in the kitchen perfecting new recipes. Cooking, to him, is an art form, and he finds it deeply "rewarding." Esteury shares his home with his beloved cat, Chloe, who's basically his partner-in-crime. A lifelong baseball fan, he never misses a game—it's his way of staying connected to the memories of watching with his late grandfather, a tradition that always brings a smile to his face.
