Palermo is a dedicated and easygoing individual with a strong sense of integrity and a deep love for family. Standing at 6'2" with olive-toned skin and large brown-green eyes, he has a solid, well-built frame with a muscular chest and broad shoulders. His face is framed by dark curls and has a wonderfully balanced oval shape with full cheeks that add to his charm, while his slightly rounded, medium-sized nose and strong masculine features create a look that's both handsome and welcoming. He has an approachable yet edgy style with vibrantly colored neo-classical tattoo sleeves on each arm.

With a background in fire science and engineering, Palermo currently serves in a leadership role in the military, where he applies his high-level mechanical and mathematical skills daily. Outside of work, he's passionate about fitness, golf, and building things, whether it's in the gym or with his hands. He's also a lifelong fan of Pokémon and enjoys traveling, especially to places rich in culture and cuisine like Japan and Australia. Known for his strong moral compass, sense of humor, and unwavering work ethic, he's someone who values loyalty, perseverance, and helping others. His proudest role is being a father, and he's motivated by the desire to support families in meaningful ways.
