

Alytus 13186 Staff Impression

At 6'6" and 210 pounds, Alytus has an impressively tall, lean build that's both athletic and graceful. With striking blue eyes, a beaming smile, and light brown hair that frames his oval face, he has youthful and symmetrical features. His prominent nose is straight and well-proportioned, sitting perfectly balanced in the center of his face. His cheekbones are subtly defined, giving his face flattering dimension without being overly sharp. His jawline is clean and well-defined, creating a nice, masculine shape while still maintaining a friendly, approachable quality. Overall, he is both handsome and genuinely kind-looking.

Alytus is a writer by training and a storyteller at heart. He holds a degree in Creative Writing with a minor in Data Science, blending imagination with analytical thinking. Passionate about speculative fiction, he enjoys reading, painting miniatures, and exploring tabletop games. Alytus is also an avid traveler, having explored parts of the South Pacific and beyond, and he finds joy in sailing and skiing, not for competition, but for the sheer experience of movement and nature. Known for his dry sense of humor, principled values, and quiet enthusiasm, he brings patience, creativity, and a deep sense of self-awareness to everything he does. Whether he's writing, hiking, or playing piano, Alytus is someone who values authenticity, connection, and the quiet beauty of a well-lived life.