Standing at a commanding 6'7" with a large, athletic frame, Torsten is a lifelong athlete. He has fair skin that tans lightly, and straight blonde hair that frames his expressive features. He is classically handsome, with a strong jawline, high cheekbones, and deep-set, light blue eyes complemented by a friendly smile that reveals dimples.

Torsten values kindness, respect, and building community. Intellectually curious and analytically gifted, he holds a B.S. in business information and analytics and is passionate about urban planning, hoping to pursue graduate studies to create sustainable infrastructure that fosters human connection. An avid athlete, he loves skiing, snowboarding, and mountain biking. Creative and musical, he enjoys playing piano and trumpet, singing in choirs, and producing electronic music. He describes himself as an introverted extrovert who thrives in smaller groups, cares deeply about others, and prioritizes honesty and making people happy. Raised by two moms in a loving, supportive family, Torsten was inspired to become a donor so he could help others create the same kind of joyful, close-knit families he cherishes.
